Dampened elections

Rainy weather, all-time low turnout hinder fall returns

By A.L. LANDERS
and JULIE ZOOK
Staff writers

A record low turnout dampened Wednesday's student government election results.

Only 637 of Eastern's 9,900 plus students voted for 24 candidates vying for 17 open seats, making for a turnout percentage of around six percent.

The fall '85 vote was the lowest turnout in the last five years. Fall elections have traditionally suffered from a low turnout.

The previous low voter turnout record occurred in 1982, when 1,546 students voted, compared to the record high, set in 1980, of 3,337 students voting.

In 1984, some 2,187 students voted for 33 candidates to fill 22 seats, which was a slightly lower vote total than 1983.

In 1983, 2,469 students voted for 16 candidates to fill 15 seats, while in 1982, 1,546 students for 29 candidates to fill 15 seats.

In 1981, some 2,028 students voted for 32 candidates to fill 30 seats.

In the residence hall district, freshman Stephanie Burks was the top vote-getter with 184, followed by senior Tim Greiter with 168.

Freshman Deb Camren garnered 136, while sophomore Tony Cameron received 125 and freshman Michelle Larson received 120. Each of the five top vote-getters won a full seat on the senate.

In the off-campus district, sophomore Lisa Mariani was the top vote-getter with 138 votes, followed closely by senior Gary Johnson, who won 132 votes.

Sophomore Dan McLean won 124 votes, sophomore Peter Brousil garnered 79 votes and junior Chuck McCann won 23 write-in votes. The top five vote-getters in the off-campus district received full year seats.

Senior Daniel Newman won 10 write-in votes, followed by senior Jay Ford with eight write-in votes, while former Senate Speaker Ron Wesel received six write-in votes. They all won half-year seats in the off-campus district.

In the at-large race, sophomore Terese Papa swept the field with 400 votes, followed by junior Michael Madigan with 363 votes.

PAUL KLATT / Staff photographer

Freshman Stephanie Burks, who garnered 184 votes in Wednesday's student government fall elections, hugs senior Tim Greiter after she was elected to a senate seat. Burks, who was among four previous appointees to be elected, led vote getters in the residence hall district.

The three remaining full seats in the at-large race went to junior Sharon Datlovsky, who won 277 votes, senior Nancy Jo Wagner with 271 votes, and sophomore Dennis Meegan with 192 votes. Sophomore Bill Helmbacher won a half seat in the at-large race with a vote of 170.

In other business conducted earlier at the senate meeting, the senate approved a Jan. 29, 1986, special election to decide whether the Health Service fee should be increased by $1.

The special election could have been set for this semester, but senator John Durante said members of Legislative Leadership believed the proposal "was brought before senate too late" for an election this semester.

If the Health Service board had requested the election sooner, the election "could have been done this semester," Durante said.

In addition, the senate also approved the appointments of senator Colleen Murphy and senior Kim Sawyer to the Legal Services board.

The senate also approved the Student Athletic Committee as a recognized university organization. Senator Mike Regan described the new organization as a "university pep club."

REM won't perform at EIU; no suitable place to play

By ANGELA PAOLI
Assistant activities editor

The band REM will not play at Eastern, possibly because of delays in negotiations between the University Board and the Athletic Department for a suitable place to stage the proposed concert.

Negotiations with REM began the first week in October when the University Board contacted its agent to coordinate time schedules, Brian Woods, UB concert coordinator, said.

The UB then approved the fee budget for the band and set a Dec. 12 date to use McAfee gym, Woods said, adding that Lantz Gym was "off limits due to commencement exercises."

During the last week of October, UB received notice from the Athletic department that McAfee was not available due to men's and women's basketball practice, Woods said.

"The biggest problem is that the women's basketball team has two big games that week," Athletic Director R.C. Johnson said last week.

The UB then attempted to find a suitable practice area for the teams, Woods said.

"We contacted Charleston High School and found that their gym was available at that date," Woods said.

Allston said Johnson Tuesday gave UB permission to use McAfee for the concert.

However, immediately after UB received notification of the availability of McAfee, Woods called REM's agent and was informed that the night of Dec. 12 had been booked three days prior to the call, Woods said.

"Earlier approval of the gym would have gotten Eastern the REM concert," Woods said.

Woods is continuing to attempt to contract REM for late January or early February, Woods said.

Eastern, Wisconsin sign 3-season basketball pact

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

Athletic Director R.C. Johnson confirmed Wednesday that Eastern has signed a three-year contract to play the University of Wisconsin in men's basketball beginning in 1986.

The two schools will play each other on an annual basis from 1986-1988, according to the terms of the contract.

The contract states that Wisconsin will host the games in 1986 and 1988, while Eastern will entertain the Badgers in 1987 in Lantz Gym.

"We're very much pleased," Johnson said. "Not so much with playing Wisconsin, but getting them to come here."

"It's really an attractive addition to our schedule outside of conference play."

The addition of Wisconsin to the Panthers' schedule marks the third time a Big Ten school has been on Eastern's schedule since moving to the Division I level in 1982. Eastern played Purdue in 1982-83, and has Minnesota on this year's schedule.

Contract terms state that the home team must pay a $5,000 guarantee to the visiting school to help cover travel expenses.

Thus, at the conclusion of the three-year series, Eastern will have grossed $5,000 in guarantee money.

"Our basketball coaching staffs got together and that's where the original contact was made," Wisconsin Associate Athletic Director Otto Breitenbach said in a phone interview.

"I think it's a tribute to Coach Rick Samuels and his assistants," Johnson said. "It's an example of their commitment to improve our program."

The dates of the games will be Dec. 22, 1986 at Madison, Wisc., and Dec. 3, 1987 in Charleston. The date for the 1988 contest in Madison will be determined at a future date.

Wisconsin compiled a 14-14 overall record last season. The Badgers were 5-13 in the Big Ten, including wins over Iowa and Minnesota. The Badgers also defeated Iowa State of the Big Eight Conference.

Madigan stalls compromise bill

SPRINGFIELD—After stalling a bill designed to break the General Assembly's deadlock, House Speaker Micheal Madigan on Wednesday offered Gov. James R. Thompson a new deal that could lead to passage of an 8-cent cigarette tax increase.

Madigan said he would reconsider his opposition to the higher cigarette levy if Thompson provides $23 million in state money to build new public schools in Chicago's Hispanic neighborhoods.

If Thompson agrees to the deal, Madigan told reporters, "it might lead to a breakthrough in the current impasse."

Thompson and Madigan were to meet later in the day to discuss the proposal.

Kids may be kept from concerts

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—After trying unsuccessfully to tame the lyrics of heavy metal rock music at concerts, the City Council here is considering prohibiting children under 13 from attending rock shows that depict violence and illicit sex.

Mayor Henry Cisneros says a proposed ordinance, the first of its kind in the nation, reflects "common sense," but opponents call it misguided and argue that "parents ought to decide and not the government."

At issue are performances at the Convention Center Arena, owned by San Antonio, the nation's 10th largest city.

The ordinance, which comes up for debate Thursday, would bar anyone under the age of 13 from concerts at which sadistic or masochistic sex, rape, incest, bestiality and exhibitionism are depicted on stage.

Senate to avert bankruptcy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White house said today federal agencies will stop issuing new checks starting Friday if Congress has not increased the debt ceiling.

"The government would continue to function, but it would temporarily stop paying its bills," presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said. "We are not going to issue checks that will bounce."

Speakes made his comments as the Senate, moving to avert a different type of financial crunch, gave final congressional approval to legislation providing funding for most government programs until Dec. 12. Current funding is due to expire on Thursday at midnight, and President Reagan is expected to sign the measure.

The funding bill is separate from a second measure needed to raise the government borrowing authority, and Speakes said checks would not be issued to federal employees, individuals receiving government benefits, state and local governments or vendors of government-paid services until that crisis is resolved.

James C. Miller III, director of the Office of Management and Budget, issued a memorandum to heads of departments and agencies directing them to stop issuing the checks if the debt ceiling legislation has not been enacted.

Speakes said Miller's action was authorized by President Reagan.

Meanwhile the house, spurred by pleas not to embarrass the president on the eve of the Geneva summit, moved on two fronts to forestall a double fiscal calamity.

Envoy to talk with Moslem captors

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Terry Waite, the Archbishop of Canterbury's special emissary, arrived here today on a mission to negotiate the release of American hostages held by Shiite Moslem extremists.

"I'm here on humanitarian grounds because I want to see a resolution to this problem ... and because I see some hope," the 6-foot-7-inch Waite told reporters on arrival.

Lebanese security guards and militiamen at the airport whisked the burly envoy through a scrambling throng of reporters.

He was taken through the terminal, ringed by militiamen linking arms, without immigration formalities. Yelling guards bundled Waite into a sedan. The car sped away with a rifle-toting militiamen hanging out the window and Waite jammed in the back seat between militiamen.

Before leaving London, Waite termed his mission the most dangerous he has undertaken. He is an experienced negotiator: Waite, 46, has secured the release of captive Britons held in Iran and Libya.

Waite embarked on his latest mission after making contact with an unidentified intermediary in Beirut over the missing Americans.

New council begins with first meeting

By PAMELA LILL
Activities editor

An organizational meeting for the newly-formed Vice President's Advisory Council will be conducted at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Union Scherer room.

The council is composed of leaders from various student organizations.

Student Senate Speaker Larry Markey said he came up with the idea for a council in August. Markey sent out for material from other universities who had similar councils, he said.

"I thought it would be an excellent thing to have," Markey said. He said he believed it would promote goodwill between the organizations and help communication.

Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, said, "I'm kind of excited about the possibilities."

He said there was an advisory council from 1970 to 1975 but it was disbanded because "nobody came."

Williams and Markey both said the council will be dealing with any problems the student representatives believe are necessary to discuss.

The council will discuss "anything from tailgating to academics," Markey said.

The first meeting will be a "rap session," Student Body President Floyd Akins said. The leaders will talk about what they feel they can do, he said.

A monthly meeting time will also be discussed at the meeting.

"If there are any students who would like to voice a complaint or an organization that feels they are not represented, they should contact the chairman," Markey said. The council chairman will be selected at Thursday's meeting, he added.

Student Publications budget half spent

By LORI WELGE
Staff writer

Although fiscal year '86 is one third of the way over, members of the Student Publications Board learned Wednesday that one half of the total budget has already been spent.

Student Publications coordinator Dave Reed justified the spending by saying that a lot of the money is tied in yearbook and paper bills to be paid next semester. Reed passed out budget reports to the members with total expenditures amounting to approximately $353,000. Of this amount, $176,274.58 has been spent.

Reed also proposed what to do with the student publications business manager position, which has been vacant since Aug. 15. He proposed that student fees and journalism department monies could apply toward the business manager's salary, which would provide a slight increase in pay. This would be an attempt to keep positions filled, he said.

Among Reed's priorities were the purchase of a new process camera, a bundler and an interface machine.

In other action, new officers were elected for the 1985-86 terms.

Last year's vice chairman, Lisa Green, was elected to the office of chairman of the board. Elected to position of vice chairman is Lori Edwards. Michael Sitarz will fill the position as secretary of the board.

CAA to decide if senior seminars will be exempt from final exams

The Council on Academic Affairs plans to discuss Thursday whether to add senior seminars to a list of courses which are exempt from final exams.

The council will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition E-fingham room to discuss senior seminars, CAA chairman Sue Stoner said.

Currently, courses numbered 4750 or higher are exempt from final exams. However, final exams can be given in those courses at the discretion of the instructor.

Senior seminar courses are numbered between 4001 and 4036, and there is nothing formally written which exempts them from final exams.

Two faculty members involved with senior seminars, Bob Barger and Stephen Whitley, will speak on the issue, Stoner said. She said the issue will be decided now to be in effect for this semester.

Council should clean up after white elephant

With $8,000 in unpaid bandshell bills looming over the city of Charleston, it appears Mayor Murray Choate has painted himself into a king-size Kiwanis corner.

Last week it was revealed that Choate—a Kiwanis Club member—had made a deal with Kiwanis Club member J.W. Oglesby at a luncheon with City Administrator Mike Steele and City Engineer E.O. "Buddy" Reed in attendance.

The group met to figure out what assistance—if any—the city could offer the club in building a bandshell in city-owned Kiwanis Park.

Choate and Steele say the commitment made at the meeting was only for city employee time and maybe $400 to $500 to the construction costs. The Kiwanians say they "clearly" committed only $5,000.

But a rough estimate in front of the luncheon foursome said the cost would be at least $9,500. Something clearly doesn't add up. Worse yet, the final cost turned out to be $13,000.

Not only have taxpayers been in the dark until now, but Choate, it was learned, also failed to inform Charleston's four commissioners of the commitment.

Choate only told the commissioners after he was questioned and construction had started.

While Choate seems to have egg on his face, the four contractors with outstanding bills have had theirs rubbed in the mud.

Setting aside more profitable work and simultaneously discounting their prices, four of the contractors who built the city's white elephant have watched their bills get shuffled from Kiwanis to the city and back again.

Since a city employee was directed to orchestrate the bandshell work, it's time the city swallow its pride and the bills.

Maybe next time, the council and public won't be left in the dark on a city commitment. If not, maybe next time the mayor will think of a better excuse than calling it all a "misunderstanding."

Referendum-seekers let voters decide but only when vote affirms their view

I'm beginning to regret that I went away to college to become a reporter, because at this very moment, there is some great controversy heating up in a my hometown of Oak Park.

Native Ernest Hemingway once called Oak Park the city of "broad lawns and narrow minds." Well, the narrow minds are still around, and recently, most of them seem to be congregating around an organization called The Oak Park Freedom Committee, a pro-handgun lobbying group.

Oak Park's leaders implemented a village-wide gun ban last year. It was a common-sense approach to a problem the town had been having with people getting shot in alleys, homes and just about everywhere else.

But common sense doesn't sit well with some people. The National Rifle Association stepped in and gave $18,500 to the OPFC to battle the ordinance, and other smaller organizations added some $4,500 to that. And all because one town decided it had had enough shooting.

Luckily, the National Coalition to Ban Handguns stepped in as well, backing the Oak Park Citizens' Committee for Handgun Control. The OPCHC only spent about $1,400 on its campaign, but apparently spent it a little more wisely.

The OPFC sought a village referendum to overturn the handgun ban—to ask voters, for the first time ever in America, what they want to do about the handgun controversy.

The gun lovers got their referendum last week, but now perhaps wish they hadn't. Oak Park's citizens voted overwhelmingly to keep guns out of their town.

So, did the OPFC admit defeat? Yes. Did it admit that the majority of voting Oak Parkers want the gun ban upheld? Yes. And did it agree to abide by the referendum and let majority opinion rule?

Well, not really.

Jim Zangrilli, OPFC treasurer, said in a news report last week, "We lose," referring to the referendum his group had sought. Then, practically in the same breath, he said the organization will now go over the voters' heads to the state capitol in Springfield to lobby for a pre-emption bill which would wipe out all local ordinances.

This is a lot like the little kid who rallies all of his friends into touch football game and then, when his

Off the record:

Kevin McDermott

team starts to lose, takes his ball and goes home.

Now, I know several things about our nation's pro handgun lobby that have led me to believe these are some of the most unsavory people imaginable.

I've known, for instance, the lie that "guns don't kill people, people kill people" is widely touted by gun lovers. Taken to its logical conclusion, this clever little saying would have us believe that it is just as easy to kill a person with a stick or a piece of frozen meat as it is with a concealable handgun.

Then there is the lie that the Second Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, with the phrase "the right to bear arms," somehow guarantees the right of individual citizens to own handguns.

However, if you ask most gun freaks to recite the entire Second Amendment, chances are they won't be able to. Lucky thing, too, because the amendment, in its entirety, reads, "A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms shall not be infringed."

In other words, the Second Amendment simply establishes the right of states to form state militias. To say that means we all have the Constitutional right to run around with loaded handguns in our belts is nothing less than a calculated lie.

And I've heard gun lovers talk patriotically about their deadly little weapons as if they were right there with Mom and apple pie. Their talk comes while they ignore the fact that tens of thousands of lives are needlessly ended by these weapons every year.

But now the OPFC has added a new and unusable item to my list of reasons to despise the gun lobby. Never, in my wildest dreams, did I imagine that gun freaks could be such poor sports.

RHA members report on recent conference

By AMY CARR
Staff writer

Residence Hall Association members will report Thursday on workshops they attended at last month's Great Lakes Association of College and University Residence Halls conference.

Eleven delegates from Eastern's RHA were sent to the conference. They attended workshops on leadership and personal improvement and received suggestions on new residence hall programs.

National Communications Coordinator Penny Jones is organizing a booklet containing information on the sessions the delegates attended. The booklet will be available to all interested students, RHA president Dave Ascolani said.

RHA, which meets at 5 p.m. Thursday in Stevenson Tower, is also planning a retreat to Turkey Run Jan. 10-12.

RHA and housing office members will attend the retreat. Sessions on leadership and unity will be given at the retreat, Ascolani said.

The retreat will give RHA members a chance to become better acquainted with the housing director, enabling them to work closer together on programs to offer students, Ascolani said.

Why are a lot of college men and women becoming buddies in Army ROTC?

Probably because Army ROTC is full of the kind of people other people go out of their way to meet.

ROTC students tend to be high achievers who are interested in more than their studies. They're popular students with a serious side, but who like to have a good time, too.

In other words, when people join Army ROTC they often meet people a lot like themselves.

Eastern's basketball team will sign highly-scouted recruit Chris White Thursday to a national letter of intent. White, a 6-9, 220 senior from Seymour High School in Seymour, Ind., was recently selected to the 15-man second-team All-State squad in a preseason poll done by Hoosier Basketball Magazine. "Just an exceptional player," said Coach Merrill, who has coached White the past three years. "He's very agile and a real good offensive player."

White has starred in the South Central Conference, which Merrill labeled "one of the best in the state."

Last year, he was named All-Conference while leading the league in scoring with 18.2 points a game and second in rebounds with 11.3 a game.

Merrill said he had counseled White to delay his signing since he was still getting feelers from other, bigger schools. But White had already made up his mind.

"He was very impressed with the coaches and atmosphere at Eastern," Merrill said.

Outside hitter, as she will go up against her younger sister Betsy, who is a hitter for the Braves. Western enters the match with an 11-1 overall record and a 4-3 mark in the Gateway. The Westerwinds are tied for fifth place with Southwest Missouri State in the conference standings.

Bradley, 31-8 and 5-2 in the conference, will be seeking to hold onto fourth place in the Gateway and thus earn the final spot for the league's post-season playoffs.

"We have an opportunity to have a say in who can go to the Gateway playoffs," Ralston said.

Eastern swimmer Toni Trusky drives for home in the 200-yard fly relay during Wednesday's women's meet in Lantz Pool. The Panthers fell 98-30 at the hands of Illinois State. The meet was the home opener for the lady tankers.

Padovan pleased by individual performances

Despite several strong individual performances, Eastern's women's swim team lost to the tough Illinois State Redbirds 98-30 Wednesday night in Lantz Pool.

Among the strong Eastern performances were two personal record times in the 500- and 1000-yard freestyles by Connie Wieck.

Wieck finished second in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:34.78 and first in the 1000-yard freestyle with a time of 11:17.42.

Eastern coach Ray Padovan said he was pleased with Wieck's performance.

"Connie has picked up where she left off last year, and for her to be doing this well in the beginning of the season is outstanding," Padovan said.

Padovan said it has taken Wieck almost two years to become an outstanding swimmer.

"Wieck is from Marshall, (Illinois) where there isn't a quality swimming program, and she used to have to drive 40-50 miles to practice, so it has taken her a while to come around," Padovan said.

Padovan said Wieck does very well in distance events.

"The longer the distance the better she likes it," Padovan said.

Tracy Saal had a first-place finish in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 25.74 and a second place finish in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 55.98.

Padovan said he was not bothered by the team's finish.

"They had some good swimmers, and overall they were a better team, so I was looking at the individual performances more than the team performance," Padovan said.

Padovan said he placed people in different events to see how well they would do, because he wants to see which swimmers do best in certain events.

Another top Eastern performer was senior Sheila Mulcrone in the 100-yard backstroke who finished in second place with a time of 106.89.

Mulcrone said she was pleased with the team's performance.

"This was the first meet where we saw where we were," Mulcrone said. "Everyone swam good, and we did a good job." Eastern returns to action Nov. 23 with a dual meet at Indiana Central.

Spikers to host Western in McAfee

All things must come to an end, and for Eastern's volleyball team Thursday and Friday will mark the closing of its 1985 season.

The Panthers, 15-16 overall and 2-5 in the Gateway Conference, will hope to move up in the league standings by hosting Gateway foes Western Illinois and Bradley.

Eastern will battle Western at 5 p.m. Thursday, before capping off its campaign off with Bradley at 5 p.m. Friday. Both contests will be held in McAfee Gym.

"I think it's kind of fitting to have your last match in McAfee where you spend so much time practicing," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said.

Thursday's contest will also be "Beef Up McAfee" night, a promotion sponsored by Wendy's that is designed to boost attendance.

The contests will also mark the final matches for seniors Judy Planos, Misty Buckhold and Lori Berger.

"We'd like to do well for the seniors since it will be their last matches," Ralston said. "We have to play our game. The key is going to be to play mistake-free volleyball."

Ralston isn't worried about Eastern being mentally prepared for the matches.

"The home-court advantage, the promotion and the state tournament being held here should keep us up," Ralston said.

Planos is pacing the Panther attack with a .240 hitting percentage. The Evanston native also leads the team in kills (279) and service aces (39).

Buckhold is coming off a 12-kill, .423 hitting performance against Wichita State. The Bradley contest will have added emphasis for the Panther

Eastern adds Iowa State to grid schedule

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

Eastern has replaced Drake on Iowa State University's schedule for the 1990 and 1991 football season.

The opening on the Iowa State schedule came as a result of Drake dropping its football program for the 1986 season Monday. The Bulldogs will return to compete at the Division-III level in 1987.

"Nothing has been signed yet," Eastern Athletic Director R.C. Johnson said. "We must now be working on the final guarantees. Hopefully, that will happen in the not-too-distant future."

Johnson also indicated that he wants to play more than one Division-I football opponent per year. Eastern played Kansas—a member of the Big Eight Conference as is Iowa State—Oct. 5 in Lawrence, Kan. Eastern received $85,000 from the Kansas trip.

Johnson said Minnesota has also expressed interest in playing Eastern during the 1995 season. Minnesota, member of the Big Ten Conference, is on Eastern's basketball schedule this year.

"It's hard (to schedule Division-I opponents) because most of those schools schedule so far in advance, up to 10-15 years," Johnson said.

"But with Drake dropping football, we're hoping to slide in there and get some of those open spots on the schedule," Johnson said.

Gooden picked unanimously for Cy Young

NEW YORK (AP)—Soft-spoken but hard-throwing Dwight Gooden of the New York Mets became the youngest player ever to win the Cy Young award, receiving unanimous acclaim Wednesday as the best pitcher in the National League last season.

Gooden, who turns 21 on Saturday, also became the first pitcher to win Rookie of the Year and Cy Young awards in successive seasons. The right-hander had a record of 24-4 and led the National League in earned run average, strikeouts, complete games and innings pitched.

Gooden received 120 points, including all 24 of the first-place votes cast by the Baseball Writers' Association of America, becoming the seventh pitcher to receive the award unanimously.

John Tudor of St. Louis, 21-8 during the season, was second with 65 points, followed by Orel Hershiser of Los Angeles with 17, Joaquin Andujar of St. Louis with six, Fernando Valenzuela of Los Angeles with four, Tom Browning of Cincinnati with three and Jeff Reardon of Montreal with one.

The other unanimous winners were Sandy Koufax in 1963, '65 and '66; Denny McLain in 1968; Bob Gibson in 1968; Steve Carlton in 1971 and '77; Ron Guidry in 1978, and Rick Sutcliffe in 1984.

Votes are cast by two members of the BBWAA from each National League city with a first-place vote counting five points, three for second and one for third.

The award came to Gooden three days before his 21st birthday, making him 13 days younger than Valenzuela when the Dodgers' southpaw won his Cy Young Award in 1981.
